

Point-of-care diagnostics and the developing world

Free Symposium & Networking Event

Brunel University - 13th January - 10- 4:30pm

A gathering to showcase engineering and bioscience research with a focus on diseases relevant to the developing world.

This event will offer the opportunity to learn what research is currently being undertaken and provide a chance for networking and collaborating toward future research.

The event is free but registration is essential as numbers are limited, please email pascal.craw@brunel.ac.uk to request a spot.

